Colbyites Aggreived.

The Colbyitis are very much put out over the turn affairs have taken in regard to George E. Record's chances for the United States Senatorship. The Hoboken Observer, an organ of the Col-byltes, says: "Senator Edmund W. Wakelee of Bergen county, chairman of the special committee of the Legislature appointed to inquire into riparian affairs, has been saked by George L. Becord to call immediately a special meeting at which the corporation counsel of Jersey City may be permitted to enswer the sherges which have bein made against him, and at which he may be allowed to crossexamine John C. Payne and other witproces who testified against him.

"This requist appeals to both the American sense of fair play and to the mind of every honest lawyer. There are also other and peculiar reasons why it should be granted. "First among these is the fast that Becord is Wakilee's political antagonist and the antagonist of every other Republican imember of the investigating committee. The corporation counsel has gone up and down Bergen county, particularly, asking the voters to turn out to the primaries and smash the machine of which Wakelee is the chief.

"Every fair commission of inquiry that was ever appointed anywhere has granted to an accused the right to make defence. This was true of the Lexow and Armstrong committees in New York; of the Voorhees committee in New Jersey, and of the insurance investigating committee, of which Senator Hillery is chair-

"Defence includes in this country the ight to cross-examine the accuser. As a lawyer Mr. Wakelee knows that this is one of the great safeguards of freedom. There is no other way known to get at the whole truth. This is especially true whon witnesses are houtile, as it was ap-

This special meeting of the committee ought to be called at once, not at some indefinite, long distant time. When an accusation is fresh in the public mind The Rev. J. M. Nardiello, pastor. is when the accused has the right to an-

"But beyond that unquestionable right is the further fact that the political questions with which Mr. Record and his friends have taken issue with Mr. Wakelee and Wakelee's friends must be deolded September 25th.

"Some persons doubtless believe that the corporation counsel of Jersey City is guilty of everything that Mr. Payne has testified to about him.

"Others are convinced that the sudden calling of the two meetings in Mr. Record's absence from the State, the exemination of Mr. Payne, admittedly Mr. Record's bitterest enemy, and the dediaton of the committee to have the blased testimony printed and circulated before the primaries, was a political trick, carefully planned and executed by a crowd of politicians who are afraid of method he desires, but he has no right to use the power of the State to assail the reputation of a political rival, as he and his committee will be justly accused of doing if they refuse to grant Mr. Record's request.

"The voters are entitled to know all of the facts regarding candidates prior to the coming primary meetings. They annot know them if a series of experte charges is permitted to go on record, is circulated by the State and the accused is denied a free and fair chance to make

Monteleir Republicans Act. A meeting of the Third Ward Bepublican Club of Montclair is announced, when it is expected that the names of the delegates to the Congressionni, County and Town Conventions will be agreed upon, and recommended to be placed upon the ticket to be supported by the Republicans at the ward primaries on Tuesday, September 25. Similar action should be taken by the various Republican organizations in the other vacds, and the selection of men to serve as delegates should not be left to a halfdozen men without consulting the other members of the ward organization. It is much more satisfactory to secure a consensus of opinion on this subject before the time when petitions must be filed with the town clerk, than to incur the csiticism and unfavorable comment of the voters who feel that they have been ignored in the selection of the men to be delegated to represent them in the several conventions. The old ward primaries conducted in open meeting, where every voter had a chance to be heard, have been abolished in Montclair by the election and primary laws, but there is no law to prevent the holding of informal ward meetings where men may reason together, and reach a common underetanding in true Montciair fashion.

members of the Assembly delegation from Essex county favor a modification of the new liquor law, particularly that provision which closes from midnight Saturday to midnight Sunday all places where alcoholic drinks are sold. In all probability the matter will come up for discussion before the delegation within short time. It is not likely that a maority can be brought to favor a public pronouncement in behalf of a more iberal Sunday law, but it is possible that if the question comes up the delegation will hear some frank talk from one or more of its members. Although none of the delegation voted for the new law 'several intimated that the reason why they did not do so was because they did not believe it expressed the intent its framers, who would have had it ven more strict than it is. Therefore. if the delegation sees fit to take action favoring less stringent regulations, it may expect the opposition of the German-Americans, or at least a large num-

New Jersey's Growth Attracts In-

Not only home-seekers, but real estate investors as well, have had their attention attracted to New Jersey by the recently published census figures showing the State's phenomenal growth in popuation. While it is a matter of common knowledge that the northern part of the State in particular has been adding to its population at a remarkable rate during the past ten years, few even of the most enthusiastic believers in New Jersey's future realize the giant strides that were being made. The figures show, however, that Bergen, Essex, Hudson, Mercer, Middlesex, Passaic and Union counties had an average of four inhabitants in 1905 to every three that they had in 1895. This is about twice the ordinary growth in the older Eastern States. It is gratifying to note that there is nothing of the boom element in New Jersey's progress. The advances in the prices of real estate, though rapid, have merely kept pace with the growth in population, in manufacturing and in transportation facilities. It is therefore a healthy and substantial growth, although the mere statement of the fact that business property in all the larger cities of the State has increased from 30 to 50 per cent., and in many cases has trebled in value, might seem to indicate a boom if it were considered apart from other features of the Stata's progress.

One feature in the situation not often to be found in connection with such rapid advances in property values is especially encouraging to the suburban home-seeker. That is the fact that there is plenty of choice residential property in and about each of these North Jersey towns and cities still to be had at very reasonable prices. Of course in the more fashionable and the more thickly settled sections residence property has gene up is something like the same ratio as have business sites. But here the rapid extension of the trolley lines in this part of the State has come in to help again. These lines have been pushed out into the country and from town to town so that they have opened up a great deal of what was once merely farming land to suburban development. By going a little farther out a man can find home sites at very reasonable prices and still be within easy reach of schools, stores and frequent trains to New York. This is what is drawing people to New Jersey in such numbers, and if the extension of the trolley roads is kert up so that additional new territory will be brought i within easy reach of the metropolis from time to time, New Jersey will be one of the greatest centres of husiness and homes in the world.
